

Less is more: Dimensionality reduction for accelerating uncertainty quantification

Pablo Giuliani

Michigan State University

We present emulation strategies based on the reduced basis method to help overcome the computational burden of Bayesian uncertainty quantification. These emulators remove redundancies from complex models and go straight to the point, like this abstract does.

Tuesday, January 24th, 2023

4:00 pm

Lindley Hall room 321